Significance of waterproofing
Water leakage or more categorically moisture ingress in buildings results into damp, uncomfortable internal environments; deterioration of internal finishes (including mould growth); unsightly damp areas on wall and ceiling surfaces and increased concentrations of harmful pollutants affecting occupant's health. The exclusion of moisture from buildings is therefore not only desirable but also an utmost concern to the residents of the buildings.

Significance of external wall coating

Use of either cement or general exterior acrylic paint cannot create impermeable envelope around building. For effective waterproofing of external walls, the coating material used should function as more protective than decorative. Revolutionary products like Dr.Fixit elastomeric exterior waterproofing coating composed of high quality acrylic emulsion polymer combined with weather durable pigments, graded fine fillers and additives. They work as a barrier to liquid water and carbon dioxide gas; but permeable to water vapor (breathable). The special properties like accommodation of movement in substrate, bridging existing cracks, maintaining flexibility and strength over a broad temperature range, resisting dirt pick up and fungal/algal growth, and over and above, maintaining these properties for periods of up to 7-10 years, make them very suitable especially for environment like Mumbai & Pune .
